Sunday school met as usual and much good is being done in this work.

Miss Bertha Fulks was a guest of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Agar last Friday.

Prayer meeting is held at this place every Wednesday night. All are invited.

Grant Brown had an old time log rolling last Saturday. A refreshing dinner was served.

G. H. Fulks went to Calaboose Sunday to organize a Sunday school, and good success is reported.

There were will be services at this place the second Sunday in each month, conducted by Rev. Frank Agar.

Mrs. Geneva Brown, daughter Ora and sons, James and Charles, were guests of James Brown and family Sunday.

Nick Center, Rollie Tutt and Samuel Shackelford made a trip to Calaboose last Sunday and report an enjoyable time.

Rollie Tutt, who has been attending school at Berea, has returned and was welcomed with a "long smile" from the girls.

T. K. Tutt went to Booneville Saturday returning Monday, bringing with him his daughter, May, who has been visiting her aunt at that place for some time.

Misses Ruth Tutt, Bertha Fulks and Zella Fulks took a "good old summer time" stroll Sunday evening to view the ruins of the old bridge which fell in some time ago. Only a few planks remain.

April 26. ADIOS.

Up Before the Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: "We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them." For chills, constipation, biliousness or sick headache they work wonders. 25¢ at all dealers.

Misses Eva Haynes and Annie Cochran were guests of Miss Roxie Shumaker Sunday.

Silas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Shumaker, has been very ill for some time, but is somewhat better.

This is called the Stamper branch but I think it ought to be called the Girl branch, as it is only one mile long and there are 80 girls on it.

April 16. OLD ZIP COON.

Words to Freeze the Soul.

"Your son has consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery.

"After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the safest, surest cure of desperate lung diseases on earth. 50¢ and $1.00 at all dealers. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

WANTED.—One hundred milk cows fresh to pail within 90 days. Apply to Chas. M. Rose, Hazel Green, Ky.

Newt Horton went to Clay City recently and made a contract to furnish 7,000 ties, straight inspection, at 30¢ per tie.

Jerry Brewer sold to J. W. Cox, on Tuesday of last week, four stands of bees for $12, and to Bruce Pelfrey a sow with eight pigs for $6.

Mrs. Robert J. Rose, who has been visiting her son, J. D. Rose, at Farmer City, Ill., for the past seven months, returned home Friday, and her health has been considerably improved.

On the 19th inst., S. M. Brewer sold his farm on Little Laurel to Tom Brewer for a consideration of $800, and on the same day he sold to J. W. Cox a pair of mules, wagon and harness, two milk cows, one heifer and three hogs for $375.

Owen Coldiron returned on the 19th from Colorado, where he had gone to settle with the company for which his son, Dock Coldiron, was working at the time he was killed. He compromised the case by receiving $1,250 and all expenses incurred.

Mrs. Lee Taylor died at her home, in Powell county, on the 23rd inst., and was brought to the home of George W. Salley Saturday evening, where the funeral was preached by Revs. Jeff Brewer and James Rose, Sr., and the remains were interred in the Murphy graveyard on this creek. Her husband and three children survive.

April 26. DOMINGO.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor,"

than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham, of Princeville, Ill., "but you'd die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't," said all doctors. Instead he used Bucklen's Salve till wholly cured. Its cure for eczema, fever sores, boils, burns and piles astounded the world. 25¢ at all dealers.

April 26. DOMINGO.

NEOLA.

The terrific hailstorm, which struck our little city Wednesday, did no damage.

Hauling ties is on the program again. In about a week the roads will look like 30 cents.

Roger Bryan, of Bryan, Goodwin & Hunt, of Lexington, was here recently interviewing our merchants.

Hager Hollon spent a pleasant Sunday at the home of S. C. Alexander, at Daysboro. He reports a fine time.

James Taulbee and wife, of Daysboro, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Willie Alexander, near this place.

The writer received three HERALDS last week of recent dates, which gave him something to read Sunday. Still send them to the same address.

Sunday 'Squire Williams, a colored naturalist of Daysboro, took in the scenery that nature gives around and within this place and was very much delighted.

Last week A. B. Patrick, a deputy United States marshal, arrested Bruce Nickell, known as "Flatnose" of Gilmore, for bootlegging the stimulant known as cornjuice.

Two whisky dealers of this city had the misfortune of being caught up with by Deputy Sheriff Sam Allen, of Belknap. They will be tried before 'Squire Fallon Monday.

The following were guests of Misses Anna and Nettie Hollon Sunday: Misses Jennie and May Nickell and Ed and Dennie Nickell and Claud Prater. All had a glorious time.

Will Alexander is boasting the job

R. A. Dunn has rented of H. W. Bryant the old postoffice, which he is using for a barber shop and law office.

A special train was run Sunday to meet L. & E. train No. 4, which had thirty-five river men for Cannel City.

Fred Hurt left Thursday for Cincinnati and other cities for the purpose of buying a stock of merchandise.

G. F. Byrd, deputy sheriff, sold to H. W. Bryant, Sr., a postoffice cabinet and some other items belonging to James P. Simer for taxes.

Asa Rose attended the first anniversary of the Cannel City skating rink Friday night. He says the masquerade party was worth seeing and puts him in the notion of going again.

Bruce Nickell was arrested and taken to Jackson Saturday. He is thought to have been selling whisky as a government man had him in charge. There are others selling in this vicinity, judging from the amount that is being drunk.

Caleb Dunn, son of R. A. Dunn, got two of his toes mashed by swinging on a train of moving cars here Saturday. It was remarkable that he was not killed. The trainmen happened to notice him and stopped immediately, or he would have been injured more severe, if not killed. Dr. J. H. Dunn dressed his wounds.

Swept Over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warning—growing ripples and faster currents—Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—dropsy, diabetes or Bright diseases.

Take Electric Bitters at once and see backache fly and all your best feelings re-turn. "After long suffering from weak kidneys and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me," writes J. R. Blankenship, of Belk, Tenn. Only 50¢ at all dealers.

April 26. N. I.

CONSOLATION.

GOOD ROAD POINTERS.

Suggestions to Supervisors on the Care of Highways.

SIMPLE BUT USEFUL DON'TS.

Excellent advice on the care and construction of roads is contained in the following set of suggestions to road supervisors:

Don't leave grass and weeds on the shoulders and in the gutters.

Don't dig the mud out of the gutters and throw it upon the road.

Don't leave dirt in piles on the road.

Don't throw grass and weeds up on the road surface.

Don't dump stone or gravel on an old road without first preparing the surface to receive it, because you thereby cause willful waste and woeful want.

Don't place new material on the road without leveling and shaping it so that the grade and cross section of the road will be unchanged.

Don't expect travel to spread and roll the new material. One-half of the money spent is wasted by this method.

Don't put new material on an old hard road surface before first picking or loosening the old covering.

Don't try to do work without proper tools.

Don't think any old tools are good enough for road work.

Don't use dull picks, broken shovels or dull scraper blades.

Don't waste your rainy days.

Don't let water stand on your road.

Don't try to repair a road in dry weather without a liberal use of water.

Don't allow culverts or pipes to become choked up.

Don't allow the outlets of under-drains to become stopped up.

Don't let water get under a road.

Don't let rats form.

Don't let the road lose its original cross section.

Don't let the shoulders get higher than the center of the road.

Don't fail to widen your fills at every opportunity. No better place for the mud, grass and weeds taken off the road than on the sides of high embankments.

Don't use guard rails if you can get dirt to widen your road.

Don't bury a stone road under mud.

Don't crown your road so high that no one will travel on the sides.

Don't forget that the entire width of the road is intended for use.

Don't expect a road to take care of itself.

Don't fail to locate all good repair material lying on or near the road.

Don't wait until you are ready to go to work before you procure the necessary material for repair.

Don't be constantly changing your road gang.

Don't lose sight of the fact that road repairing is a trade and must be learned.

Don't depend on some one else to tell you what the condition of your road is.

Don't fail to visit every road under your care at least once a week.

Don't think there is nothing more to be learned about road building.

Don't forget that nobody knows it all.

Don't think because you do not hear the comments that your work is not being praised or criticised, as the case may be.

Don't look down on your work.

Don't lose sight of the fact that good roads are one of the greatest factors in the development of any country.

Don't forget that churches and schools cannot thrive without good roads.

Don't be satisfied with anything but the best.

Commissioner's Sale.

F. P. WILSON, Admr., etc., Plaintiff, vs. JOANNA WILSON, etc., Defendants.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Wolfe Circuit Court, rendered at its January term, 1909, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the front door of the court house in the Town of Campton, Wolfe county, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 3rd Day of MAY, 1909, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, (being the first day of the May term of Wolfe Circuit Court and County court), upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following described real estate, to-wit:

1.—One tract of land described in a deed from Shelby Risner and Martha Risner, his wife, to Andy Wilson, dated January 18, 1906, and recorded in Deed Book 17, page 88, and is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the county road near the creek; thence a west direction with Andy Wilson's line to the top of the hill; thence leaving Wilson's line with Wm. Lindon's line to the head of the branch to G. A. Nickell's line; thence down the fork ridge with said G. M. Nickell's line to R. M. Wilson's line; thence with said R. M. Wilson's line back to the county road; thence with the county road to the beginning.

2.—Another tract is described in deed from S. J. Wilson and wife to Andy Wilson, dated October 21, 1901, and recorded in Deed Book 17, page 186, and is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a stone near the spring; thence across the branch to the mouth of a small stream to a stone; thence to the top of the point to a stone; thence following the point to the ridge to Leander Dunn's line; thence down the point with Taulbee's line the dividing fence to a chestnut oak on top of the ridge; thence from the chestnut oak down the point or ridge to a stone near the barn of R. M. Wilson; thence up through the middle of the road to the beginning.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved surety or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Witness my hand as Master Commissioner of the Wolfe Circuit Court, this, the 8th day of February, 1909.

Alcohol not needed

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a strong drink. As now made, there is not a drop of alcohol in it. It is a non-alcoholic tonic and alterative. Ask your own doctor about your taking this medicine for thin, impure blood. Follow his advice every time. He knows.

Ask your doctor, "What is the first great rule of health?" Nine doctors out of ten will quickly reply, "Keep the bowels regular." Then ask him another question, "What do you think of Ayer's Pills for constipation?"

DRINK WAINSCOTT'S ROX A KOLA

Roy Davis came up from Ezel Saturday to witness the ball game.

Volney Ingram, of Ashland, was here Saturday last with the West Liberty ball team.

John W. Bohannon, of this place, is confined to his home with a very serious case of pneumonia.

Henry Cecil, who has been convalescing for some time, was able Monday to drive a buggy to Hele-chawa.

Stevie James is rapidly improving and unless unforeseen complications arise will soon be up and about.

Roscoe Shackelford, who is in the lumber business at Wilhurst, spent Sunday with his wife and family.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Fennis Howe, representing J. Henry Koenig, Cincinnati, was a guest of the Cecil House during his stay.

Dr. Lockhart, the dentist, will be in his office at Campton May 1st, and invites all needing his service to call.

Miss Daisy Day returned Wednesday from Winchester, where she has been visiting her uncle, Floyd Day, and family.

Miss Matlee Rose, whose illness has been mentioned before, is so much improved that she was able to be in town Monday.

William Clark, of our town, has been confined to his bed with pneumonia for seven days yesterday, and is a very sick man.

Miss Lula Hurst, of Stillwater, and her sister, Mrs. Crockett Rose, of Lacy creek, were in town Tuesday doing some shopping.

Jesse Kash, clerk of L Park Hotel, at Torrent, left Monday to resume his duties at that hostelry and entertain visitors to that resort.

Elmer Barker, a student of the academy, accompanied by his cousin, Miss Carrie Rose, visited with homefolks on Stillwater from Saturday until Monday.

Henry Gillaspie and John Coldiron are in Middletown, Ohio, to get work, and John Nickell left last week for some point in Ohio on the same business.

Wm. McOwen, representing the Endicott-Johnson Co., Endicott, N. Y., makers of leather and shoes, was a guest of the Day House last Monday and Tuesday and sold to some of our merchants.

Rev. H. J. Derthick left Monday for his new home at Livingston, Tenn., driving through in his buggy and leading the Shetland pony belonging to his son.

A baseball game, played on the diamond of the home team here Saturday, between the Junior nine of West Liberty and a mixed team of regular and Junior nines of Hazel Green resulted in the score of 28 to 13 in favor of Hazel Green.

Ellis Johnson, of this place, on Wednesday of last week had the misfortune to lose a team of mules by drowning in White Oak creek, Morgan county. Mr. Johnson's brother, Frank, was driving the team under orders of a Mr. West, a drummer for the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., St. Louis, and when they came to the Howard ford they found the water dangerously high, but as Mr. West told the driver to risk fording he drove in with the result that the wagon overturned and the mules drowned. Mr. Johnson at once brought suit to recover pay for his team, and as it was subject to the orders of the agent of the representative of the shoe company, it is generally thought the latter will compromise the case.

A bevy of beauties from this town will go to Jackson Monday to attend the base ball game and we challenge Breathitt county to produce their equal. Among those who have promised to attend are Misses Nancy Sample, Liza James, Molly Coldiron, Stella Bicknell, Falay Long, Virginia Day, Mae Williams and Lula Nickell. They will be chaperoned by Miss Coleman, of Hazel Green Academy, as well as one of the Misses Miller, Florence or Katie Gault, and perhaps both. They anticipate a royal time and we sincerely hope their every wish may be gratified, as they are all very lovely ladies.

"Our Man About Town" learned Sunday that Friday or Saturday Ben Patrick was shot and instantly killed by one of the Wages boys. The only particulars, so far learned, are that Patrick was playing the banjo, when Wages made some insulting remark and Patrick hit him over the head with his banjo, whereupon Wages shot him and ran. Patrick followed him about ten feet, when he fell and expired instantly. The affair happened at one of the Wilsons on the head of Frozen creek.

"The Berry Citizen" is the name of a newspaper just launched upon the turbulent journalistic sea at Berry which reached our exchange table last week. It is a neat six-column folio, beaming with news and embellished with up-to-date advertisements. Ira D. Sargent occupies the tripod, while Henry S. Barnett, recently foreman of the Breathitt County News, has charge of the mechanical end.

Sam Kash and wife last week removed to the dwelling known as the Cord property, very much to the regret of the editor and his better seven-eighths, who have always found them excellent neighbors. But our loss will be the gain of those who now live close to them.

Jordan Wills, one of our prominent and venerable citizens, has been confined to the home of his son-in-law, C. F. Kash, for several days past. He has a complication of diseases, and old age renders his recovery problematical, to say the least.

The many friends of Mrs. Mallie French, who has been in the hospital at Jacksonville, Ill., for a month past, will rejoice to learn that she is now rapidly convalescing and will this week go to her home at Ashland, Ill., a town about 18 miles distant.

Clarence Lovelace, who lives with Caesar Lindon, on Gillmore, and who has recently recovered from a serious case of pneumonia, was in town Monday and is rapidly convalescing. Dr. A. C. Nickell pulled him through.

At the residence of the bride's parents, Borders Hale and wife, of Pekin, in Morgan county, Miss Molly Hale and Asa McGarvey Nickell were united in marriage, Bro. Billy Yocum performing the ceremony.

If you want a fine razor—as good as you can buy for $2—call this at office and get one for $1. We also have a few watches, good time keepers, that can be had for $1 each. Don't wait until supply is gone.

Indigestion Ends.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of a case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will occasionally take a little Diapiesin after eating.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea. Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. Each triangle will digest all the food you can eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking today and by tomorrow you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Blue Grass Against Mountains.

At a jury trial recently held in the Montgomery County court, a travesty on justice was so clearly demonstrated as to show a prejudice against the mountain people. It seems that one or two of our stock men last fall contracted with a farmer near Mt. Sterling to graze and care for about 90 head of cattle, the farmer agreeing to give the same attention to the cattle entrusted to his care as he did to his own, to repair his fencing, etc., to so secure them. Notwithstanding these terms, the cattle did get out and stray away, and two of the same have never been found. For the loss of these two the cattlemen sued, or for their value in cash. The farmer declined to pay and a jury of his countymen found him not neglectful of duty, when the proof showed that for a week after their escape from the field the said farmer had not inquired of his nearby neighbors about them. So we beg all our stock dealers to beware with whom they deal, as some of them, as well as a jury, have failed to accord justice to us. W. W. SWANGO. THOS. RISNER. CLAY WILSON.

Aunt Liza Nickell, who is keeping house for Uncle Andy Lacy, on Lacy creek, owing to old age and her lost vitality, is in a very precarious condition.

WANTED—A bushel or two of potato onions and a peck of onion sets. Apply at this office.

The Globe-Regent Insurance Co., of New York, last week sent Dr. J. H. Stamper a check for $200 in full of the policy on his dental fixtures burned last winter.

WANTED.—One hundred milk cows fresh to pail within 90 days. Apply to Chas. M. Rose, Hazel Green, Ky.

The Hazel Green baseball nine will play a match game with the Jackson nine next Monday, and all who wish to go to the contest will get reduced rates on the railroad.

Prof. H. J. Derthick says he still has a dresser, parlor table, dining table and chiffonier for sale privately. Must be sold at once.

Clarence Havens, of Grassy creek came over Saturday to witness the ball game between the Hazel Green and West Liberty teams, and incidentally made a friendly call at THE HERALD office.

J. M. Beatty, of Lacy creek, was Monday arrested on a capias from Hyden, by Constable George Byrd and taken to that place to answer some charge pending in the Circuit court of Letcher county.

Trent correspondence came in Wednesday evening. Be on time if you want your items printed.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Colated and Concisely Chronicled.

William Dobbins, of Lawrence county, was burned to death while fighting forest fires which threatened to destroy his home.

The 90th anniversary of the founding of the I. O. O. F. in Kentucky was celebrated by the lodges throughout the state last Friday night.

A twelve-year-old son of John Osborne, living in Mattie Lee City, in Montgomery county, was playing with a dynamite cap, when it exploded, tearing off the thumb and two fingers of his left hand.

Three persons were ground to death by railroad trains in Central Kentucky Wednesday of last week: Miss Mattie Conway near Frankfort, J. Sol Jarvis near Olive Hill, and Dr. R. K. Bryan near Georgetown.

For sewing up a surgeon's sponge in the abdomen of Miss Mary Willis, of Bracken county, after performing a surgical operation, Dr. F. W. Samuels has to pay her $3,500, and the Court of Appeals holds that it is not too much.

While boating in Stoner creek, near Paris, Henry Grosche and Wm. Wright discovered an otter in an old sycamore tree. They killed the animal, which was a fine specimen, the hide measuring 54 inches, the color of the fur being a solid black.

Some unknown person telephoned Patrolman Gilbert at his home that several houses were being robbed in Southern Heights, a suburb of Louisville. While the officer was in search of the burglars his stable and contents, valued at $900, were set afire and destroyed.

The long-expected event has come to pass. Last Friday Governor Willson granted a full and free pardon to William S. Taylor, Charles Finley, John Powers, Harlan Whitaker and others for complicity in the murder of William Goebel, setting forth his reasons in great length and detail.

Instead of playing a game of base ball at Paris last week, scheduled between the State University and Paris teams, the members of the two clubs engaged in a snowballing contest while the former were waiting for an interurban car to return home. The heaviest hailstorm in years passed over while the teams were at practice, hail falling to the depth of about six inches.

One of the peculiar incidents of the recent severe hailstorm at Paris was the breaking of a large memorial window in St. Peter's Episcopal church. A life-size portrait of St. Peter, the Apostle, outlined in the stained glass was left unbroken, while the glass above and below and on the sides was broken by the hailstones. The glass was all of the same thickness and the window was valued at $600.

An unusual proceeding occurred in Mt. Sterling at the session of Circuit court. The case of H. C. Clay, a lawyer of London, against Harvey Riddell, a lawyer of Denver, Colo., was called. All the jurymen were out deliberating on other cases, and by consent a jury of twelve lawyers attending court was selected to try the case, who brought in a verdict for the defendant. Altogether there were seventeen lawyers interested in the case—judge, jury, contestants and their attorneys.

[For The Herald.] HOMESICK.

I was borned in Old Kentucky, an' I'm longin' to git back From these prairie winds 'at howl an' howl an' moan aroun' my shack: From this empty, endless wilderness, stretchin' fer as yo' can see; An' my heart's a-purt, nigh breakin' for the sight of jest one tree.

I was raised in Old Kentucky, an' I'm wishin' I wuz back, Where the shiftn', shinin' rivers cuts their twistin', trailin' track; Plowin' thru the rus'lin' cornfields, an' under hangin' boughs, Where they's pools to cool the fishes, an' they's shade to hild the cows.

My "Old Home" 's in Kentucky, an' I'm heartsick to git back! Them cricks an' woods hez got a tongue these lonesome prairies lack; Fer they's nuthin' here but silence, 'cept the never-endin' cry O' the winds 'at moan an' moan ontel you think you'll shorely die.

An' ye hain't no wish fer livin', an' the dearest thing ye crave to die an' hev it over, if they'll only dig yore grave; Back there in Old Kentucky, where "Old Grassy" twists and turns, Where the sun hez trees to shine on, an' the autumn color burns.

Where the sycamore's crooked branches show the way the river flows, An' across the yallerin' cornfields, ye can hear the cry o' crows; While the leaves is droppin' sofly nature's tears fer days 'at's dead, An' 'mongst the hickory's trumblin' branches the squirrel perks his head.

Where the oak an' maple colors make the woods a kind o' hint O' the lan' yer lookin' fer at last, an' seem ketch a glint O' the glory streamin' down'ards thru a break in heaven's wall, An' in the whisperin' silence ye can hear the angels call.

Kentucky's part nigh Heaven, an' I'm wishin' I wuz home, If they's them 'at's thinkin' diftunt they've got license fer to roam; But Heaven an' Kentucky is jest two things I lack. I'm a good ways off from both of 'em, an' I'm prayin' to git back! —R. B. GOSSE, Halstead, Kas.

20 Years With Heart Trouble

"Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has cured me of heart disease of over 20 years' standing. I was so bad that I could not do my work, and could scarcely draw a full breath without fainting or smothering. The doctor told me he could do no more for me; then I commenced taking the Heart Remedy. I shall never forget that night. I slept better than I had before in months. I kept right on getting better, until I was perfectly well."

MRS. LAURA RUSSELL,
Logan, Iowa.

When the heart action is weak, it fails to pump the blood through the lungs with sufficient rapidity. Then the lungs do not absorb the proper amount of oxygen, although they may be taking in a normal amount of air. The result is shortness of breath, smothering spells, difficult breathing, oppressed feeling in chest. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, and in this way increases the circulation.

SOME INDIAN WARRIORS MY "SHADOWS" END BY BUFFALO BILL FROM TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY WILLIAM F. CODY

AFTER the Custer massacre General Miles was left in command on the Yellowstone and erected huts for his troops and stores, which were brought from the Missouri river by wagon. He built two posts, one on the Tongue river and one on the Yellowstone near where is now the city of Glendive. As soon as these were completed, instead of waiting for spring and summer, he immediately planned to keep up activity against the red foe.

The Indians greatly annoyed his supply trains, and on one occasion the train had to return on account of the strength of the Indians. This roused the general's ire, and instead of the demoralized teamsters he equipped it with soldiers as such and fighting men to accompany them. Sitting Bull himself notified Colonel Otis that he must not travel that way, and Miles got after old Bull and overtook him at Cedar creek. The wily chief sent a flag of truce, as he wished to pass the winter comfortably and wanted permission to hunt and trade on condition that he did not attack the soldiers. But Miles would not temporize. He sent word that there was only one peace, and that was by submission. During this flag of truce they tried to trap him in the way in which General Canby lost his life in the Modoc conference in '73, but Miles "coppered" the game and told Sitting Bull: "I'll take no advantage of you under a flag of truce. You have fifteen minutes to get back to your people and fifteen minutes more to accept my terms or I'll commence fighting. Either you or I have got to be boss of this part of the country."

Although the country swarmed with Indians and no reply had come, Miles attacked them with such vigor that they left many of their dead on the field, which they never liked to do, and continued a hot pursuit for over forty miles, compelling them to abandon food, lodge poles, camp equipment and ponies. Eventually 400 lodges and 2,000 Indians surrendered and were sent to their agencies.

Sitting Bull and his hostile cronies left the main body and escaped northward, where they were joined by Gail and some other chiefs. This bitter experience was an astonishment to Sitting Bull and the Sioux, so that it left that section free from their immediate depredations. After a return to the Tongue river post and a short rest the determined commander made up an expedition to follow Sitting Bull's trail northward, although it was obliterated by deep snow and the winter had opened with great severity, even for that region. The suffering of the troops was intense. A month after Frank Baldwin and the troops under Miles overtook and hammered old Bull on two occasions and made it so warm for him in such a cold climate that he took refuge over the Canadian border. General Miles even made application for permission from the two governments to follow him to a finish, but for some reason the higher authorities did not permit it. Sitting Bull's influence had always been ably seconded by Gail as a fighter, and here I want to say that everybody in the "know" recognized Gail as one of the bravest and gamest of fighting men that history has produced, white or red. On one occasion, in a fight with the troops, he was shot down and ridden over by the cavalry, and it is stated that an infantry soldier, in the excitement of the moment and to assure his death, drove his bayonet clean through his body and left it there, actually planting him to the ground. His death seemed assured. Afterward a rainstorm came up, which revived him, and he eventually crawled off in the darkness and lived to lead the firing line in the Custer and Reno fights. Years after I saw the evidence of the wound in his stomach.

This Montana winter, almost continually below zero and at times so cold that the mercury froze solid, tried the soldiers severely.

The whole equipment and clothing of the soldiers had to be rearranged, and furs and buffalo robes, deer hides and beaver skins had to be drawn upon from the trading posts on the Missouri and from the agencies. For instance, leather belts of all kinds were replaced by canvas ones. Further explanations would take too long to relate, so suffice it to say that the winter campaign was effectively waged and a great battle was fought with Crazy Horse, who boldly attacked the command with a superior force. Crazy Horse was an Ogallala chief who led in the battle against Crook's command, was an important factor in the battle of the Little Big Horn and was a demon in daring.

He gave the command a most determined fight that nothing but the shrewdness of Miles won, as it waged for hours, the last part of the struggle being in a blinding snowstorm. Several chiefs were killed and a big "medicine man" whom Indian superstition thought invincible, disheartening his followers. They fell back, but "Bear Coat," as they had nicknamed Miles, kept up the pursuit persistently, even with frost bitten troops, and eventually John Brugler, a half breed and very gallant scout with the command, who got in communication at the risk of his life with Crazy Horse, convinced the wily chief that Miles meant what he said, "Surrender and go to the agency or I will attack you every day and keep you awake at night." This was finally consented to, and Crazy Horse was made to accept Miles' terms by his chiefs. Nine remained as hostages, while he and 2,000 of his warriors surrendered at the Red Cloud and Spotted Tail agencies, and 500 Cheyennes under White Bull, Two Moons and Hump surrendered at the Tongue river post.

Crazy Horse fretted under the restraint of Camp Robinson, and, information showing that he was planning to leave the agency with some of the worst of the disaffected, it was thought best to arrest him. This brought about a fight, in which he was mortally wounded and died, smilingly defying the white man.

The Cheyennes who surrendered to Miles were treated by him in such a brotherly manner that he eventually gained their affection and from among them enlisted a corps, like the old Pawnees on the Platte, as scouts.

Miles' winter campaign, in short, was effective. The next May found Miles after the Minneconjous, under Lame Deer, whom he followed with pack trains and no incumbrances. He surprised them on the Muddy and had them completely surrounded, while a dash by Lieutenant Casey had cut them off from their ponies. He hoped to have them surrender without further bloodshed. White Bull, the Cheyenne chief, was the medium. Their response to this was a rifle bullet through the arm and body of White Bull, but the offer was again repeated and Lame Deer and his warrior, Iron Star, accepted and approached, but during the parley Lame Deer stepped back and deliberately fired at the general, whose escape was miraculous, as his orderly, who was directly behind him, was killed by the shot. That settled the peace making, and "pumping it into them" began, Lame Deer and Iron Star being among the first to fall. The rest were killed, captured or scattered.

Soon after the events just narrated a man I dearly loved and trusted, who had stood beside me at many a trying time, had ridden many a weary ride and scouted with me under great difficulties, met his fate—Jim White, "Buffalo Chips."

A package of winter clothes had arrived for me by the river route, and in parting I had given him my best overcoat, a hat and other togs, and his death for awhile caused the Indians to report that Pe-Ha-Has-Ka (that is my Indian name) had fallen, and in several tribes there were held premature obituary rejoicings. While sorrowing for Jim, I was always proud that he made a good showing and that he brought honor to his western nickname, which was given to him in a spirit of rivalry by no less a personage than General Phil Sheridan himself.

I will let General Charles King, who was present, tell the story, which he has done in his history, "Campaigning With Crook."

"This time it is not my purpose to write of 'Buffalo Bill,' but for him of another whom I've not yet named. The last time we met, Cody and I, he asked me to put in print a brief notice of a comrade who was very dear to him, and it shall be done now. "James White was his name, a man little known east of the Missouri, but on the plains he was 'Buffalo Bill's' shadow. I had met him for the first time at McPherson Station, in the Platte valley, in 1871 when he came to me with a horse and the simple introduction that he was a friend of Cody's. "On many a long day's march after that White rode by my side along the banks of the column, and I got to know him well. A simpler minded, gentler frontiersman never lived. He was modesty and courtesy combined, conspicuous mainly because of two or three unusual traits for his class—he never drank, I never heard him swear, and no man ever heard him lie.

"For years he had been Cody's faithful follower, half servant, half 'partner.' He was Bill's 'idus Achaes.' Bill was his adoration. They had been boys together, and the hero worship of extreme youth was simply intensified in the man. He copied Bill's dress, his gait, his carriage, his speech—everything he could copy.

"Poor, honest hearted 'Chips!' His story was a brief one after we had launched out from where Cody left us to carry some dispatches for Terry. 'Chips' remained in his capacity as scout, though he seemed sorely to miss his 'partner.'

"It was just two weeks after that we struck the Sioux at Slim Butte. As the head of our column jogged in among the lodges General Carr directed us to keep on down to face the bluffs to the south, and Mills pointed to a ravine opening out into the village, with the warning: 'Look out for that gully. There are Indians hidden in there, and they've knocked over some of my men.' "Everybody was too busy just then to pay much attention to two or three

"Chips" sprang convulsively in the air, wounded Indians in a hole. We were sure of getting them when wanted. So placing a couple of sentinels where they could warn stragglers away from its front, we formed line along the south and west of the captured village and got everything ready to resist the attack we knew they would soon make in full force.

"Half a dozen soldiers got permission to go over and join in, while the rest of us were hungrily hunting about for something to eat. The next thing we heard was a volley from the ravine and saw the scouts and packers scattering for cover. One soldier held his ground—shot dead. Another moment and it became apparent that not one or two but a dozen Indians were crouching somewhere in that narrow gorge, and the move to get them out assumed proportions. Lieutenant Clark of General Crook's staff sprang into the entrance, carbine in hand, and a score of cavalrymen followed, while the scouts and others went cautiously along either bank, peering warily into the cave-like darkness at the bend. A squad of newspaper correspondents, led by that reckless Hibernian Finerty of the Chicago Times, came tearing over, pencil in hand, all eagerness for items, just as a second volley came from the concealed foe, and three more of their assailants dropped bleeding in their tracks. Now our people were fairly aroused, and officers and men by dozens hurried to the scene. The misty air rang with shots, and the chances looked bad for those redskins. Just at this moment as I was running over from the western side I caught sight of 'Chips' on the opposite crest. All alone he was cautiously making his way on hands and knees toward the head of the ravine, where he could look down upon the Indians beneath. As yet he was protected from their fire by the bank itself, his lean form distinctly outlined against the eastern sky. He reached a stunted tree that grew on the very edge of the gorge, and there he halted, brought his rifle close under his shoulder in readiness to aim and then raised himself slowly to his feet, lifted his head higher and higher as he peered over. Suddenly a quick, eager light shone in his face, a sharp movement of his rifle as though he were about to raise it to his shoulder, when—bang—a puff of white smoke floated up from the head of the ravine. 'Chips' sprang convulsively in the air, clasping his hands to his breast, and with one startled, agonized cry, 'Oh, my God, boys—goodbye, Bill!' plunged heavily forward on his face down the slope, shot through the heart.

"Two minutes more what Indians were left alive were prisoners and that costly experience was at an end. "We buried poor 'Chips' in the deep ravine with one other dead, and no scout was more universally mourned than 'Buffalo Bill's' follower and devoted friend, Jim White."
